An Unlocked-For Retaliation.—The announcement lately made that the ordinance referring to the running at large of all manner of animals would be rigidly enforced, was productive of much good in the vicinity of Eighth street, above Girard avenue, and a little ill, in an incident which was to the greatest degree risible. The main actors in this drama were a heavy gentleman—no less than a well-known police officer—and a wicked specimen of the order rumantia, genus capra, which a scientific friend describes as a mammal, clothed with long hair, and characterized for its angulated and spiral horns. The scene is laid at the corner of a lot, surrounded by a high fence. It is said that after untoid exertion, and puffings loud and sonorous, our round friend had cornered his game. All hope of escape for the unlucky ruminant was cut off, for a voluminous body was upright before it, the legs thereof describing, with the earth, a perfect triangle. It is averred that the following was spoken:—"Here, goatee, goatee. Confound that goat! why don't it come?" Now, natural history divulges the fact that under certain circumstances certain areas and a standard and sonorous and a service of the uninear certain circumstances certain areas and a service of the service of the content of AN UNLOCKED-FOR RETALIATION .- The an-'t it come?" Now, natural history divulges fuct that under certain circumstances certain animals become sadly demented, and are incited to deeds of darkness. Be that as it may, we chronicle the fact that, hardly had these anxious ejaculations escaped from our friend, when this savage ruminant did arch its back and lower its head, and with a prodigious leap did strike above the apex of the before men-tioned triangle, coming into immediate con-tact with the ample folds of a vest surrounding a massive form, which gave way with a sudden Beml-tragic "Whoo!--ugh!--biast him!" and sank as if it were no more. We consider it as a settled fact that running down and cornering goats is far from being agreeable to those with prominent abdomen under like circumstances.

A "DRY" CASE.-Frederick Dry has been employed for the past four months in the furni-ture store of Mr. Dickinson, No. 238 South Second street. It came within his province to Second street. It came within his province to attend to the clothing of the store. Last night he closed the establishment at the usual hour, and departed. About 7 o'clock last evening an attache to an adjoining store saw some person come out of Mr. Dickinson's st re, through the rear door, carrying a large bundle of cloth. As this individual looked up, and found himself the object of close observation, he faced about, passed back into the store, slammed to and looked the door. This was a somewhat singular transaction, and so thought the observer. He stepped out, and gave information to Officers Carney and Pearson, of the Third District. These gentlemen tried all the doors of the building, and found them secure. So by the aid of a plank they reached a second-story window and got in. Zealous search was made of all the departments of the building, which finally resulted in the finding of Mr. Frederick Dry, sleeping, apparently, in a not very comfortable attitude, in a large box placed in one corner of the cellar. A further search revealed large strips of velvet plush, ready cut from huge rolls, and of the exact size to cover a lounge. These were gathered in a bundle, amounting in value to about $100. Mr. Dry was taken into custody, and was committed this morning by Alderman Butler in default of $1500 taken into custody, and was committed this morning by Alderman Butler in default of $1500

The Departure of Colonel John W. Forney, Secretary of the United States Senate, for Europe, in search of relaxation from the cares of official and journalistic labors, was the occasion, yesterday, of a pleasant gathering at the Washington House, in this city. The affair assumed the form of a complimentary breakfast tendered the proprietor of the Press by the editorial and business employes of the establishment. The party sat down at half-past twelve o'clock, with Daniel Dougherty, Esq., as the "favored guest." The discussion of the dishes was varied by remarks from Mr. Dougherty; Mr. Charles Godfrey Leland, the present managing editor of the Press, Mr. J. Luther Ringwalt, of the editorial staff, Mr. Charles C. Wilson, chief of the city department; and Mr. Charles McClintock, the business manager. To these Colonel Forney responded in a happy manner, and after the exchange of farewell greetings, the party separated.

About midnight, Colonel Forney was tendered a further farewell demonstration at his residence. THE DEPARTURE OF COLONEL JOHN W. FORNEY.

About midnight, Colonel Forney was tendered a further farewell demonstration at his residence. He was then waited upon by committees of the colored people of the city and of the Colored Union League, the latter leaving their festivities at National Hall for the express purpose. The party were accompanied by two excellent bands of music, which drew together a large concourse of people.
An appropriate acknowledgment was made by Colonel Forney, after which the crowd

OP IMPORTANCE TO DEALERS IN TIN-PLATE AND METALS.—In the year 1810, the N. & G. Taylor Company established in this city the business, which is still carried on at Nos. 303 and 305 Branch street. Their specialty is the importation of tin-plate, metals of all kinds, and kindred articles for the use of the trade. Indeed, all workers and dealers in metals, to any deed, all workers and dealers in metals, to any extent whatever, will find at this establishment facilities for meeting and supplying every want that can arise in their business. The stock of the plate in particular in the can arise to be a supplying every want that can arise in their business. want that can arise in their outsides. The stock of tin-plate, in particular, is large and complete, embracing, as it does, all sizes and qualities of this commodity. In addition to this, they have on hand a rare assortment of sheet-iron of every manufacture, as well as of other forms of iron and steel, and all the other forms of the meta.s, in sheet and other forms. Tools, machinery, and trimmings of all kinds, are embraced in another portion of the stock in equal variety and desirability.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARIES .- The office of Ellis ATTEMPTED BURGLARIES.—The office of Ellis & Botts, stock brokers, No. 305 Wainut street, was entered last night by burglars, who gained at cost thereto by forcing off a back window-shutter. They received nothing for their exertions in this office; but it is believed that their object in entering this office was to reach the fire-proof safe belonging to Mr. Petrie's establishment, which projected into Ellis & Botts' office. They failed to realize any financial expectations. expectations.

A. BURKIS bas been tendered by the members of the Delmonico Cornet Band, and will take place at the Liberty Hall, Lombard street, below Eighth, on Monday evening of next week. The pregramme presents an attractive variety of piano and vocal solos, intermingled with the performance of choice selections by the Band. Mr. Burris has occupied a prominent position among the colored people of this city for fifteen years past, having been particularly popular as a musician; and now that he is about to leave for foreign lands, this complimentary tribute on the part of his friends and the general public is eminently proper, and none the less deserved.

STRALING RAILROAD IRON .- James Miller, STRAING KARLEAD HON,—James aller, aged fifteen, has been engaged at various times in stealing rallroad from the North Pennsylvania Railroad. A VISIT TO THE NAVY YARD.—The arrival of several war steamers within the past fortnight has restored to our Navy Yard, which was almost deserted during the winter, a portion of its wonted activity, and added a great deal to that which usually interests visitors. Yesterday we made one of our periodical calls on the gallant knights of the "eagle and anchor," and found them as gentlemanly and hospitable as ever. The Yard is rapidly assuming its summer costume. The long and once beautiful line of trees on the main avenue which leads to the river, is beginning to exhibit signs of old age and impaired usefulness, but those around the officers quarters and barracks are putting forth and impaired usefulness, but those around the officers' quarters and burracks are putting forth vigorously, and will be "able for duty" long after League Island will be ready to relieve them. Thegrass, which some tasteful hand has thickly interspersed with violets, is an kie-deep already, and each day adds a line to the obituary of another season of "hay butter."

In the main office building, near the gate, we found two important Boards in session, one for the examination of regular line officers entitled to promotion, and the other for the investigation of the cases of officers of all grades who may be disabled or injured by reason of wounds, sickness, etc., so much as to be unfit for duty. may be disabled or injured by reason of wounds, sickness, etc., so much as to be unfit for duty. Commodore J. B., Hull is President of each of these, and is assisted by Commodores McKinstry and Marchand, and Surgeons Rushenberger and Dillard. On the opposite side is a Court of Inquiry, which convened on Tuesday last by order of the Navy Department, to ase rtain the truth of certain charges contained in a report made by a number of the crew of the Forda against their officers, charging them with infractions of discipline, illegal manipulation of bounty money, etc. These allegations are very serious, and it is hoped by all interested that they may not be sustained by evidence. Commodore J. P. Gillis, Captain Curtin, and Paymaster Pettit constitute the Court.

The Casttanooga, which attracted so, much attention and so many visitors last year, lies moored to the wharf under the shears. There seemed to be only fewjwatchmen and workmen aboard, who were making alterations in the machinery under the direction of the Southwark Foundry. The social character and good nature of the sallor is particularly shown in his fondness for pets; and if the number of monkeys, parrots, and other West India products aboard these two men-of-war be a fair index, we should say they were happy ships, in spite of the report of the Florida's men. We learn of the following personal changes:—On Wednesday a detach-ment of twenty-two sailors was sent to Norfolk, Virginia, in charge of Commander Haines, and six marine sergeants and corporals. THE FESTIVAL OF THE COLORED UNION LEAGUE, at National Hali last evening was in every sense of the word a success. The company pre-sent was very large, and all seemed bent upon enjoying themselves to the utmost, by way of rejoicing over the rapid strides which the colored people of the country are making colored people of the country are making towards securing in its fullest extent that justice at the hands of the Government which has been so long denied them. The entertainment consisted of music, and speech-making; and in each portion of the programme there was an earnest endeavor to surpass. The music was of a decidedly artistic order, and the adverses were listened to throughout with the dresses were listened to throughout with the greatest attention.

Mr. John C. Bowers, the President of the Mr. John C. Bowers, the President of the League under whose auspices the entertainment was given, made some remarks at the opening of the ceremonies concerning the operations of the institution. The regular report was then read by Lieutenant A. M. Green, after which Mr. Brown delivered an address on "Universal Suffrage." Mr. Kerns, of the State Legislature, and several other gentlemen, likewise addressed the assemblage.

The first morceau on the musical programme was the Bolero, from the "Sicilian Vespers," which was sung by Madame Brown with fine effect. Then came a duett from Lucia, rendered by Messrs T. J. Bowers and I. D. Cliff, the former of whom is well-known to the public as "the colored Mario." Mr. Bowers fally sustained his high reputation on the occasion, and Mr. Cliff

Mr. Bowers fully sustained his high reputation on the occasion, and Mr. Cliff acquitted himself with great credit in the duett, as well as in the subsequent solo of "Sleep, Gentle Sleep." Then Mr. Bowers rendered the ever-popular "Good-by, Sweetheart," in exquisite style; and the musical portion of the programme was closed with the "Laughing Trio." Through the kindness of Mr. J. C. Bowers, the President of the League, the Deimonico Band, which was in attendance, was permitted to leave the ball, when they proceeded to the residence of Colonel John W. THE QUESTION OF WAR.

Paris Journals Looking for Peace.

Another Muddle in Rome.

Prussia Fully Prepared.

The Population Invited to Rise Against the Pope.

Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.,

New York, April 27. - The steamship America, from Southampton, has arrived here. The Paris journals assure the public that there will be no war about Luxembourg, as a peaceful solution of the difficulty was about to be found. The Standard says it was not to be effected by the neutralization of the Grand Duchy, as such a proposition would not be accepted on either side of the Rhine.

On the other hand, foreign correspondents of the London journals say, that although the war may be averted for the moment, it is certain to come. It is said Bismark is anxious for peace, and that Count Moltke prefers immediate war, as Prussia is quite prepared, and has three chances to one over France. In case of postponement, France will be made ready, when the chances would be reversed.

The Paris Constitutionnel says shat no ultimatum has been sent to Prussia.

It is rumored that Russia and Prussia are negotiating for the transfer to Prussia of all Poland to the Vistula. In the Bohemian Diet ninety of the members formally protested against the irregularities with which, as they declared, the present elections were attended, and, throwing up their posts as Deputies, quitted the Chamber.

A proclamation has been published in Rome, calling upon the population to rise against the Papal Government, and promising the support of Garibaldi.

HEARINGS AT THE CENTRAL STATION .- Before Alderman Beitler, at two o'clock to-day, James Conway and James Donahue, both about fourteen years of age, were charged with pitching quoits and throwing stones in Independence Square. They were held in $300 for their good behavior.

Laughlin and Rodgers were held in $500 bail to answer at Court. Patton was taken to the Sixth District Station House, there being a warrant for his arrest on another charge.
